Memory moves

To play memory moves, have the kids form a circle around the dance floor. Choose one player to go first. That player will step into the center of the circle and make up a dance move. The next player will step into the center and repeat the same dance move. After that player mimics the dance move of the first player, he then performs one of his own. It is up to the next player to repeat both dance moves and add a third. The game continues in this manner, which each dancer repeating and then adding a new move to the list.
